HISTORY OF NENA

- The First New England Numismatic Conference met in Boston, Mass. on May 23rd, 1941. Periodic gatherings of New England Numismatists had long been advocated by the late Shepard Pond and this meeting was occasioned largely through his efforts and held under his chairmanship. The NENA is a direct offspring of this Conference.
- 1946 After a lapse of five years, the Second New England Numismatic Conference was held in Boston under the Chairmanship of Henry Schuhmacher who felt that the Conference should be revived.
- 1947 The Third New England Numismatic Conference met in Providence with Horace Grant as Chairman. At this Conference, NENA was baptized and organized as an established Numismatic group embracing the whole of New England, her purposes and ideals were determined, and her first officers elected. Harold Whiteneck was installed as the first NENA President.
- 1948 The Fourth Annual Convention was held in Worcester, with Arthur Moore as Chairman, NENA undertook to publish "NENA News" and Arthur Moore was elected our second president.
- 1949 The Fifth Annual Convention was held in Springfield, with Howard MacIntosh as Chairman. At the business meeting he was elected our new president.
- 1950 The Sixth Annual Convention was held in Hartford, with Theodore Robbins as Chairman. Max Kuhner was elected president and the office of Publicity Director was established.
- The Seventh Annual Convention was held in New Haven, with Walter Johnson as Chairman. For the first time the length of the Convention was extended to include two full days of numismatic activity. At the business meeting a constitution was adopted and Maurice Gould was elected president.
- The Eighth Annual Convention was held in Boston under the Chairmanship of James F. Clapp, Jr. For this meeting a medal was struck in bronze, silver and gold to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the Pine Tree Shilling. Earl Tuttle was elected president for the coming year.
- 1953 The Ninth Annual Convention was held in Worcester with Earl Bellis as Chairman. At the business meeting Theodore Robbins was elected president.
- The Tenth Annual Convention is to be held in Hartford, on Oct. 9th & 10th at the Hotel Bond. This year the Convention Chairman will be Richard D. Moore. A special medal specifically designed for NENA and the 10th Annual Convention is being struck. The largest Bourse ever held along with an excellent Auction make us confident that this will be the finest NENA Convention held to date.

MESSAGE OF GREETING FROM HIS EXCELLENCY JOHN LODGE GOVERNOR OF CONNECTICUT

It gives me great pleasure as Governor of Connecticut to welcome the members of the New England Numismatic Association at their tenth Annual Convention.

The collection and study of coins, whether pursued as a hobby or as a business and hobby combined, is an activity which widens the horizons of the mind. Numismatists not only exchange ideas with those of common interest in all parts of the nation and of the world, but their interest leads them into some of the most fascinating pages of history, geology, metallurgy and many other fields. The study of coins provides an absorbing hobby which may be pursued by young and old alike.

Coins have interested collectors, historians and antiquarians for many centuries, and it is a good thing that today our distinguished numismatists should continue to foster widespread interest in their instructive and highly enjoyable pursuit. In sending my warmest greetings, both personal and official, to the New England Numismatic Association, I wish them a most successful tenth Annual Convention.

JOHN LODGE

To members and guests of the New England
Numismatic Association:

WELCOME TO HARTFORD — THE INSURANCE CITY

This tenth Annual Convention is the culmination of lengthy and careful planning by your officers and convention committee. We feel that the essence of numismatics is acquisition and knowledge and we have endeavored to provide opportunity for both.

There are few among us who can or would claim to be professional numismatists, but that person who has acquired one coin and knows its history has entered the portal of our sacred hall. Yes, acquisition and learning are an integral part of our hobby but only through sharing these can we achieve a mutual interest and satisfaction.

We look forward to the fellowship of your stay with us and may it make this tenth Annual Convention of NENA a memorable one.

THEO. W. ROBBINS

President

The Connecticut Historical Society

THOMPSON HARLOW, Director

The Connecticut Historical Society was incorporated in 1825 "for the purpose of discovering, procuring and preserving whatever may relate to the civil, ecclesiastical and natural history of Connecticut." Its aim is to collect and preserve, and also to publish historical, genealogical and biographical material relating to the State.

Those interested in genealogy will find more than 3,300 printed genealogies, covering 1,700 family names and some 15,000 genealogical manuscripts. Bible records, copies of church, town and cemetery records and printed local histories relating to regions of Connecticut migration, make it one of the finest sources for genealogical research in the country.

The Society periodically attempts to exhibit different portions of its treasures. The remaining piece of the original Connecticut Charter, Israel Putnam's tavern sign and sword, Nathan Hale's camp basket and powder horn, the Farmington Drum and Mark Twain's bicycle, may be seen in the Museum. Numerous examples of fine furniture are also on exhibition. The furniture authorities agree that for a museum of the size, it is unusual in owning so much of importance and significance in the development of furniture in this region. There are several unique items including an oak draw table, turned chair and large gate-leg table. Interesting oak chests and chairs from the 17th century, many of which can be traced to the original owner, are also on exhibition. More than 200 portraits of Connecticut people are in the gallery.

HARTFORD

Starting in 1623 as a Dutch trading post, called the "House of Hope," Hartford was settled in 1635-36 by Thomas Hooker and his followers. Known to the Indians as "Suckiag," the city was named in 1637 after Hertford, England. The Fundamental Orders adopted by the Colony in 1639, first written constitution in history establishing a continuing government "by the free consent of the governed," served as a model for the United States Constitution 150 years later. The city was incorporated in 1784.

Evolving in the early 19th century from an agricultural to an industrial economy (except for cigar tobacco which has gained in importance since) Hartford has been the scene of early experiments in interchangeable parts—the American System—which laid the groundwork for the mass production system of modern American industry. These early beginnings ultimately made the city a recognized center of precision metal manufacture.

Although the national reputation of Hartford's insurance industry tends to overshadow all other, manufacturing in this area is by far the largest source of jobs and payroll dollars. The two industries together form the foundation for a stable economic structure. The tobacco industry and governmental jobs, peculiar to a capital city, constitute two other sources of primary income and add further to the foundation of the area's economy.

Geographically, Hartford, capital and largest city in Connecticut, is located midway between Boston and New York via highway, rail or air, at the head of navigation on the Connecticut River 50 miles from Long Island Sound. Area of the city is 18 square miles and of the six adjoining towns 125. Population of the city is established at 183,600.

Points of interest include the State Capitol constructed in 1879; the Old State House, completed in 1796; the State Library and Supreme Court Building, homes of the celebrated authors Mark Twain, Charles Dudley Warner, Harriet Beecher Stowe and many other private dwellings of the Colonial, Revolutionary and early Victorian periods.
